DETAILED ACTION

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114.

Applicant's submission filed on January 9th, 2006, has been entered.

Allowable Subject Matter

2. Claims 1-20 are allowed.

3. The following is an Examiner's Statement of Reasons for Allowance:

In interpreting the claims, in light of the specification and the applicant's amendments filed January 9th, 2006, the Examiner finds the claimed invention to be patentably distinct from the prior art of record. The prior art does not teach all of the limitations of the independent claim(s) in combination with the other elements presented.

The prior art of record teaches policy information and decision-making that is implemented at an intermediary network device (Gai, abstract and fig. 3). This device stores policy information and forwards it to requesting devices when it is necessary to communication request messages (Gai, col. 10m, lines 12-35 and fig. 5). All incoming messages to the network device are analyzed for applicable rules and policies (Gai, abstract).

The prior art also teaches a Common Open Policy Service (COPS) implementation using the Resource Reservation Protocol (RSVP) at a third network device ("COPS for RSVP whitepaper, fig. 1). This policy management method uses a policy enforcement point to apply policy information to network requests by pulling policy data from a Policy Decision Point and applying it to the incoming network traffic.

However, as per claims 1-20, the prior art fails to teach a network device that stores policy data that is provided by a policy device in response to a resource reservation request message from a first network device to a second and where the policy data is then forwarded to the first device when a confirmation message is received from the second device.

4. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
